

Dear distinguished guests and attendees,

Thanks for your strong support to the International Conference on Emerging Networking Architecture and Technologies (ICENAT 2022). With the influence of the recent outbreak of COVID-19 in China, after careful consideration and consultation by the organizing committee, we finally make the difficult decision that the conference will be held virtually during November 15-17, 2022.

We sincerely appreciate you for your understanding and trust during the special period and apologize for the inconvenience caused by the change.

Please adjust the schedule and arrangement accordingly.

If any questions, please feel free to contact us.
